The Children's Museum holds GalaSaurus, its 12th annual fundraising gala, on Saturday evening, May 10, 2008, at Tumble Brook Country Club in Bloomfield. GalaSaurus also celebrates the major new exhibit, "Excavation Station" – a fossil dig site featuring a full-sized animatronic T. Rex dinosaur.

We are pleased to announce that TD Banknorth is Presenting Sponsor for the event. Local WDRC radio personality Brad Davis will serve as emcee and co-auctioneer. Highlights of the gala include specialty martinis, sumptuous food and entertainment as well as silent and live auctions where guests will bid on a wide range of exciting offerings that include a trip to London, England. A special Animal Sponsorship auction gives guests the opportunity to help care and feed the rescue animals that live at The Children's Museum Wildlife Sanctuary. 1st District Congressman John Larson and West Hartford Mayor Scott Slifka will be attending the event. The gala is an important source of financial support for the annual exhibits, programs, activities and educational outreach provided by The Children's Museum to some 200,000 children and families annually.
